Updates - New MOE Regulation on Domestic Internship Performance

On 14 December 2016, the Minister of Employment issued Regulation No. 36 of 2016 on Domestic Internship Performance, which revoked the previous regulation on the same matter (i.e., Minister of Employment Regulation No. PER.22/MEN/IX/2009 dated 30 September 2009). The new regulation is effective immediately. Some of the changes in the new regulation include who can be the participants of an internship, requirements for being a participant of an internship and minimum requirements in an internship agreement.

Note that an internship that has started before the issuance of the new regulation can continue until the end of the internship program or a maximum of one year after the issuance of the new regulation.
